Profile

I am Michael Ilunga, a Front-end Developer, UX Designer and visual identity designer with experience in audiovisual production. I combine technical skills, creativity and a strong sense of design to create modern, intuitive and consistent digital experiences, while being able to manage a project from start to finish. Client-focused and a strong communicator, I adapt quickly to new environments and work effectively both independently and as part of a team.

Audiovisual & photography

Create modern, creative and professional audiovisual content for different projects and platforms, including music videos, advertising videos, social media content, lifestyle videos, events and brand content. From concept to editing, I turn ideas into visual productions. I also work in photography. Examples of my work are available in my portfolio.
